Tempe, AZ 85281

Vishnu,

We're thrilled to offer you a Software Engineer Internship position at Mightybell. In this position, you'll play a critical role in building the category for identity networks – or smart social networks designed to build relationships around a shared interest or identity on native mobile and web apps – and bring them to the world.

Opportunity

- Help define and develop new features on the Web/Server engineering team
- Develop critical components of the platform
- Work closely with other developers and our team to tackle business problems using the best technologies available
- Proactively contribute ideas for new features as well as identify areas for improvement

Terms

- This role is a full-time internship in Palo Alto, California from May 16, 2017 through August 16, 2017

- Your salary will be $6,000 monthly, which will be paid monthly

- Mightybell will reimburse your travel expenses to temporarily relocate to Palo Alto up to $1,000

This offer is contingent upon signing the enclosed Employee Confidentiality and Invention Assignment Agreement and Non-Disclosure Agreement and upon successful completion of references check.

We're thrilled to have you join us!

Tim Herby
